Recommendations

- 1.The background of the website is too splashy and bright, the text and images look lost and unimportant. It's hard to read the information. Also, the backgrounds are different on each page and they take all the attention. So, it's better to change all the backgrounds to something not so colorful and glaringly. Better not to use the animated background, cause the website is loading slowly.
- 2.There are too many images on the website and most of them have links. Also, they are chaotically arranged, have bad quality and it spoils the look of the whole website. It's better to cut down the quantity of images and leave only the quality and useful ones, change their location, not grouped them in the one place and put according to the information on the website. There should be the approximately equal ratio of text, images and other media content on the page. The more is not the better in this situation.
